The cotton was set fire to and destroyed by a tramp on the night of the 27th of November, 1891. The dominant question in the case, as presented by the pleadings, the proof, and the instructions, is, was there a delivery L when When the shipper surrenders the entire custody of caarriery of his goods to the carrier for immediate transportation, commences. . . and the carrier so accepts them, eo instanti the liability of the common carrier commences. When this occurs, the delivery is complete, and it matters not how long, or for what cause, the carrier may delay putting the goods in transitu; if a loss is sustained, not occasioned by the act of God or the public enemy, the carrier is responsible. But, on the contrary, as there is no divided duty of safe keeping, and no apportionment, in...
